

November 2023 | Volume 53 | Issue 3

Dear Parents,

Recently, I read a book called Opportunity Leadership by Roger Parrott and have been reflecting on it ever since. The challenge in this book discusses how we need to set up our lives (or school, or businesses, or families) in such a way that when an invitation from the Lord arises we are ready and willing to jump at the opportunity. We should orient our lives towards His heart and create space to hear His voice in the midst of a busy life. The book invites the readers to consider setting up our lives as sailboats - maintaining the boats, keeping the sails ready to go, and then waiting for the wind of the Lord to carry us where He is leading. What we often like to do instead is to run our lives like motorboats - paying no attention to the wind, but gassing up the boat to go wherever we want to go and at a quick pace. I have been encouraged to consider this challenge in my own life. So whether it pertains to life at work, home, or school take some time to slow down, listen to the voice of the Lord, and then follow His gentle promptings as you allow His wind to be what directs your course.
