Message from the Principal: Mr. Miller

Hello GMS families,

Next week is National Teacher Appreciation week and I want to take this opportunity to brag a little on our teachers and encourage you to let them know how much you appreciate them. This is a very busy time of the school year and our teachers go over and above with projects and activities to make learning fun and memorable for our students. Here are a few examples:

3rd Grade Wax Museum – Today each of the 3rd graders dressed as someone from history and were ready to speak as them while parents and students visited their table. It was very well done and students will remember it for a long time.

4th Grade Mini-Society – Over the past few days students have been hanging posters throughout the school to advertise the product they have chosen to make and sell on market day next week. Each student has decided on a product, is making the product, and next week they will sell the product. In the process American dollars are used to buy the materials and then the parents are paid back in "Erupt Bucks" (this year's currency) which can be used on market day. Erupt Bucks will then be used by the students to buy prizes on Auction Day in the 4th grade classroom. Another memorable project for sure.

World Leaders Project – Last month each GMS student, along with their mentor/mentee, wrote a letter to the leader of a country. 174 letters were sent to capital cities around the world. In the letters students asked questions about the country and asked the leader to send a picture of himself or herself. This week the first letters came back and so far we have pictures from Lithuania, New Zealand, The Netherlands, Trinidad and Tobago, Monaco, and the United States. Students are very excited when they hear their names announced over the PA system to come to the office to get their letter. In the process, they learn a little geography and world awareness.

I know that there are many other projects, field trips, and other activities that our teachers have done and will be doing over the next few weeks and we appreciate the extra effort greatly. I would encourage you to show your appreciation next week in some way. Small things like a note, email, small gift card, etc. are highly valued by teachers!
